

Historical Marker - L2141 - Union Depot (Marker ID#:L2141)

Front - Title/Description

Union Depot

The Union Depot began passenger service for the Michigan Central and Pere Marquette Railroads in 1902. The Detroit architectural firm of Spier and Rohns, which planned many Michigan Central stations, designed the building with Chateausque conical towers and cut stone arches. The depot closed in 1972. Restaurateur Peter Jebeck bought the building in 1978 and transformed it into an eatery, retaining the quarter-sawn oak interior and installing locally crafted stained glass windows.
