

IFR Report #1256.

Thesis - Burton Hunt

A Study of the Life History, Ecology and Economic Importance of a Burrowing Mayfly

DISS 2698 492 pgs

A STUDY OF THE LIFE HISTORY, ECOLOGY AND ECONOMIC IMPORTANCE OF A BURROWING MAYFLY, HEXAGENIA LIMBATA (SERVILLE), IN CERTAIN MICHIGAN WATERS

by
Burton P. Hunt

A dissertation submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the University of Michigan
1950

Committee in charge:

Professor Paul S. Welch, Chairman
Associate Professor Frank E. Eggleton
Research Associate Albert S. Hazzard
Professor George R. LaRue
Associate Professor Frederick K. Sparrow, Jr.
Assistant Professor Alvalyn E. Woodward